Join Idaho's beef industry's campaign to reduce hunger and provide a consistent supply of nutrient-rich beef for The Idaho Foodbank. Your participation counts!

The Idaho Foodbank Mission

The Idaho Foodbank, in an effort to end hunger in Idaho, provides food and nutrition education to individuals and families throughout Idaho who, for a variety of reasons, need help to meet their basic living needs. We serve those experiencing hunger, as well as those who are at risk of hunger.

Hunger is a daily reality in Idaho for 1 in 6 adults (274,000 people) and nearly 1 in 4 children (96,000 kids). About half those people in need have incomes too high to qualify for most or any government assistance. This group relies entirely on the charitable hunger-relief network in our state, which includes The Idaho Foodbank.

Beef Counts

As the first program of its kind in the United States, Beef Counts and its partners, the Idaho Cattle Association, Idaho CattleWomen Council, Idaho Beef Council and Agri Beef Co., collectively support this innovative program, which quickly converts cash or live animal donations into nutritious beef for hungry Idaho families. Idaho's beef industry recognizes its impact on Idaho and the effect it has on the local economies. We are eager to make a difference and help The Idaho Foodbank's mission to feed, educate and advocate for Idaho's hungry by providing a consistent supply of high quality beef. Thanks to Agri Beef's Co.'s matching contribution, your generous donations are increased by the time they reach those in need.
