CLIF BAR: HELPING TO SOLVE HUNGER

The Idaho Foodbank is making a concerted effort to acquire and distribute food that is more nutritious and can contribute to the general health and well-being of the people we serve.

Idaho's agricultural community is helping by providing more fruits and vegetables. But sources of protein, an essential nutrient for building and maintaining body tissue, are much harder to come by.

Clif Bar, a California company, built a one-of-a-kind, sustainability-focused bakery in Twin Falls that intentionally uses biophilic design, a cutting-edge approach to design that connects people in buildings with nature and the well-being it provides. The bakery began operating in May 2016 to meet the growing demand for organic energy and nutrition bars; some of which provide as much as 11 grams of protein, or 22% of the recommended daily requirement. Clif Bar has made monthly product donations that have enabled the Foodbank to make good on the promise to provide Idahoans in need with a greater variety of nutrient-dense foods.

MEALS FROM DISTRIBUTED FOOD (MILLIONS)

One meal is equivalent to 1.2 pounds of food as determined by the U.S. Department of Agriculture based on total U.S. food consumption.
